

GRAILQUEST CORP.

A premier exploration and production software and consulting firm with 30+ years of industry experience.

Responding to an unfulfilled need in the E&P community, we created ReservoirGrail, a revolutionary software package that allows users to identify the amount and location of original, current, and future hydrocarbons in place. Unlike traditional flow simulators which require complex data input and extensive simulation expertise, ReservoirGrail requires simple input and minimal simulation experience. Employing a unique, patented approach called Time Dynamic Volumetric Balancing © (TDVB) ReservoirGrail models the migration of reservoir fluids through time by automatically matching the production history of your wells. Once a hydrocarbon in place map has been obtained, ReservoirGrail simulates future primary and secondary recovery plans allowing the user to determine the most economical development scenario.

Many well-respected organizations such as Apache Corporation, Devon Energy, Noble Energy, Jefferies Capital, and Macquarie Capital have used ReservoirGrail to identify millions of barrels of reserves. What will you find with ReservoirGrail?
